

Pray!

What is God calling you to be and to do?

Are you being called to a daily deep dive into His Word?

Are you being called to become a dedicated person of prayer? Are you being called to share your faith in engaging ways with your family?

Discern!

Know your capacity for daily devotional time. The VFM website is chock full of resources, ideas, events, and projects.

The goal at VFM is to encourage a deeper relationship with Jesus by slowing down, paying attention, and dealing with distractions.

Process is valued over product. Always.

Contain It!

How might you record/remember/reflect throughout your devotional time?

Will you use index cards or a composition notebook or a handmade journal?

It is perfectly fine to test one of these and shift to something else as you settle into your devotional practice.

Decide!

Where is the Holy Spirit leading you?

Will you Scripture Scribe this year?

Will you commit to the monthly Day of Prayer?

Will you engage in a Logos 365 journey?

TRY

Try It!

Jump in and try it. Adjust as you go.

Bring a friend into the scenario and "travel" with Jesus together.

Be in Community!

Our Visual Faith® Ministry community is here to encourage you!

Share your journey on our FaceBook page.

Post pictures of your daily devotional practices. Ask questions, share your wisdom!

Iron sharpens iron (Proverbs 27:17).

Give Grace!

You will miss a day. You might miss a week. You might need a reset. VFM Coach Sara Wilson writes "grace" in the blanks of the days that are missed.

As VFM Coach Carolyn Bira reminds us, God shows up even when we do not. He is always faithful.

Where do I begin?
